The Rake's Progress

Inspired by William Hogarth's famous series of paintings, Stravinsky's The Rake's Progress charts one man's path from pleasure to ruin. When the mysterious Nick Shadow appears, Tom Rakewell abandons his sweetheart, Anne Trulove, and leaves behind his country life for the temptations of the city. But London's glittering promise soon dissolves as love, money and sanity slip farther and farther from his grasp. Can true love save him, or will the devil get the last laugh?

The Rake's Progress is surely one of the 20th century's most dazzling and original works—as if a Mozart opera wandered into a hall of mirrors. Comedy and tragedy are never far apart in this light-hearted work that can break your heart with the broadest of smiles. Jonas Hacker, Joëlle Harvey and Sam Carl lead the cast in a new production by director Chas Rader-Shieber and scenic and costume designer Robert Perdziola, featuring the festival debut of conductor Christopher Allen.

But every seventh year he disembarks to find a bride who can break his curse. In a small Norwegian fishing village, he fatefully encounters Senta, a young woman who is obsessed with the Dutchman's legend. Can the power of love break the curse? How much must we sacrifice to bring about salvation?*

The tale of a quick-witted fox and her escape from confinement for a life in the forest is by turns joyful, witty, romantic and tragic. The Cunning Little Vixen follows the cycle of death and rebirth through the instinctive and immediate world of nature—animal and human, which Janáček loved so dearly. In this celebrated score, singers and orchestra embody the sounds of the forest, the feel of sunshine on your face and the thrill of a starlit sky.

Bursting with boundless invention, imaginative colors and a memorable cast of creatures, director Kristine McIntyre, maestro David Neely, and Oyoram, Visual Composer, reunite after their triumphant production of Bluebeard's Castle to bring the vixen's natural world to life. Vita Tzykun returns to join this creative team as costume designer, Luke Cantarella returns as scenic designer and Kate Ashton returns as Lighting Designer. Soprano Hera Hyesang Park debuts as the Vixen and Sun-Ly Pierce returns to the festival to make a role debut as the Fox.

We don't have time to do things twice. We also don't have time to repeat ourselves. So how do we get our messages through the first time?

When we're concerned about the level of risk on a project, how do we get that through to the people who need to be prepared for delays or cost overruns?

When we need additional resources to resolve the issue at hand, how do we get the attention of those who have moved on to other priorities in the business

When the decisions that need to be made have lasting impacts on the health of the organization as a whole, not just the stakeholder who screams the loudest, how do we make sure all of the right people are involved and paying attention?

When we need input from everyone, not just the highest paid person's opinion, how do we engage all and only the right people?

If someone asked you if everyone at your business is all working towards the same goals, headed in the same direction, working consistently as a unified team, would you smile and say, "Absolutely!" or would you pause? When was the last time you could say confidently that your business was on track to achieve the goals you set out? Is any delay in your response because you haven't measured, or because you haven't set the goals?

It turns out that the healthiest organizations – the ones that produce the most consistently strong results, the ones that are able to predict outcomes even in unpredictable economic times, the ones that attract and retain the best employees, the ones that maintain the most lasting and stable relationships with their vendor partners – are the ones that do a handful of simple things:

They have a simple but clear picture of why they do what they do and how they show up.

They have a focused understanding of who they serve.

They have a way to talk about the work they do that lets them see if they're on track or off track and get back on track when they're not.

Do you have that? Do you want that? It doesn't have to be complicated. Join us for this hands-on half-day workshop with Sinikka Waugh, president and founder of Your Clear Next Step as she brings the very best of business leadership to bear. From right here in Indianola, over the past 17 years, Sinikka and the Your Clear Next Step team have helped over 56,000 people in hundreds of organizations of all shapes and sizes have better workdays through simple tools like the ones she's offering here.

Join the Indianola Chamber & Your Clear Next Step on Tuesday, September 30th from 8:30AM-11:30AM for meaningful insights into figuring out how to keep your business on track!

BASIC AGENDA:
